

V-Bar, LLC and Chinook Wind, LLC Merge

GOLDEN, Colo. and EVERSON, Wash. April 17, 2017 -- V-Bar, LLC and Chinook Wind, LLC today announced their agreement to merge. The new company is in active operations and plans a brand roll-out in Q2 2017.

The merger brings together two seasoned globally-experienced teams of atmospheric scientists, data analysts, and engineers who are known for their expertise, accuracy, and trustworthiness. Dedicated to delivering next generation innovation in wind and solar energy, the firm offers project-lifetime resource assessment, optimization, testing, and engineering services to landowners, project developers, owner/operators, and investors.

The company provides solutions tailored to the unique needs and circumstances of each client project, with a focus on responsiveness and customer service, just as V-Bar, LLC and Chinook Wind, LLC have done for many years.
